David,

I just got your email. I knew you sent discovery demands, but I did not notice anything regarding an EBT. Also, I am working on the discovery. The office was closed yesterday, so I did not know about this supposed EBT. I get my emails, but I prefer if you also send the documents via mail.

I have not heard from you concerning whether your witnesses will appear at my office for their noticed depositions. Please let me know asap whether I should cancel the court reporter for tomorrow or not. Please note that, in my voice mail message, I erroneously stated that the first deposition was Wednesday. As the attached notices state, the first depositions are scheduled for tomorrow.
